Dymple Phillips, Editor
Ralph Sowell, Jr. Advisor

Crafty men condemn studies, simple men admire them, and wise men use them; for they teach not their own use; but that is a wisdom without them, and above them, won by observation. Read not to contradict and confute; nor to believe and take for granted; nor to find talk and discourse; but to weigh and consider. Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested; that is, some books are to be read only in parts; others to be read, but not curiously; and some few to be read wholly, and with diligence and attention. Some books also may be read by deputy, and extracts made of them by others; but that would be only in the less important arguments, and meaner sort of books; else distilled books are like common distilled waters, flashy things. Reading maketh a full man; conference a ready man; and writing an exact man.

OF STUDIES
—Bacon

To be alive in such an age—

To live in it,

To give to it!

Rise, soul, from thy despairing knees.

What if thy lips have drunk the lees?

Fling forth thy sorrows to the wind

And link thy hope with humankind—

The passion of a larger claim

Will put thy puny grief to shame.

Breathe the world thought, do the world deed,

Think hugely of thy brother's need.

And what thy woe, and what thy weal?

Look to the work the times reveal!

Give thanks with all thy flaming heart—

Crave but to have in it a part.

Give thanks and clasp thy heritage—

To be alive in such an age!

—Angela Morgan

Of oft when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude,
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

—Wordsworth

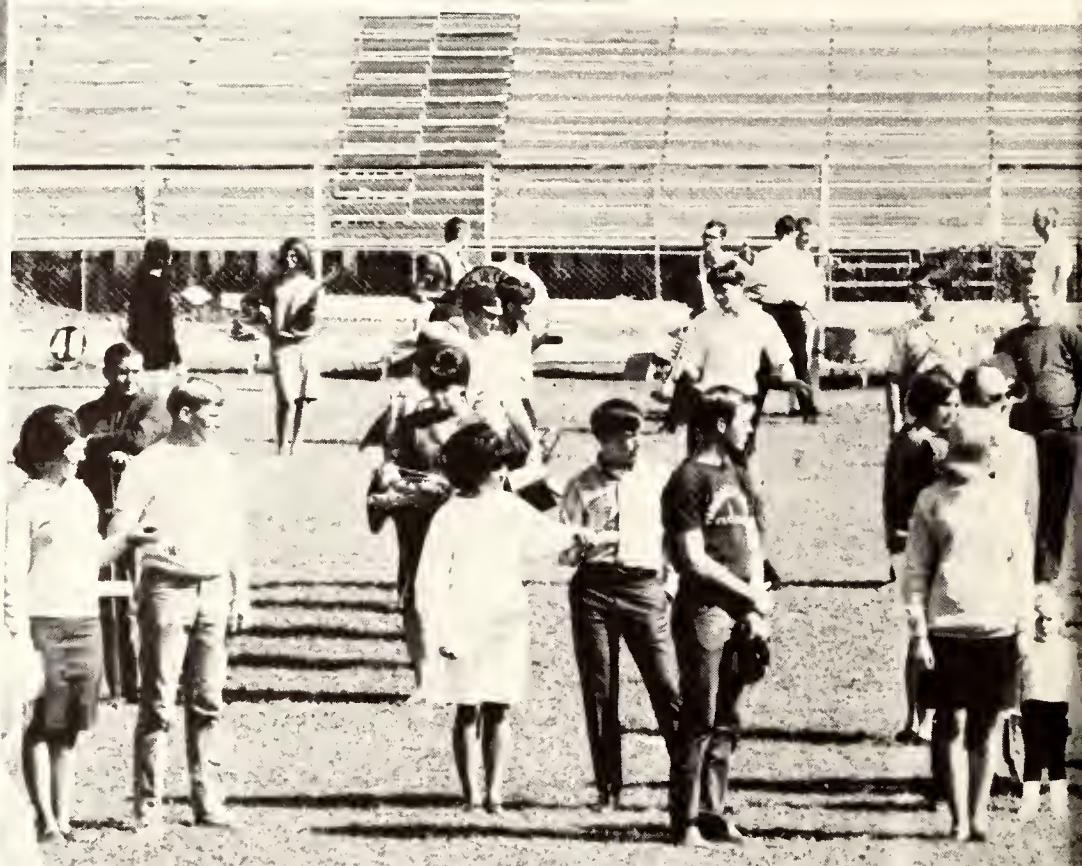

The Year's at the spring
and day's at the morn;
morning's at seven;
the hill-side's dew-pearled
the lark's on the wing;
the snail's on the thorn;
God's in his heaven—
All's right with the world.

THE YEARS AT THE SPRING
—Browning

For Yesterday is but a Dream
And To-Morrow is only a Vision;
But To-Day, well lived,
Makes every Yesterday
A dream of Happiness,
And every To-Morrow a Vision of Hope.

—From BUILDING

A thing of beauty is a joy forever;
Its loveliness increases; it will never Pass into nothingness.

—Keats

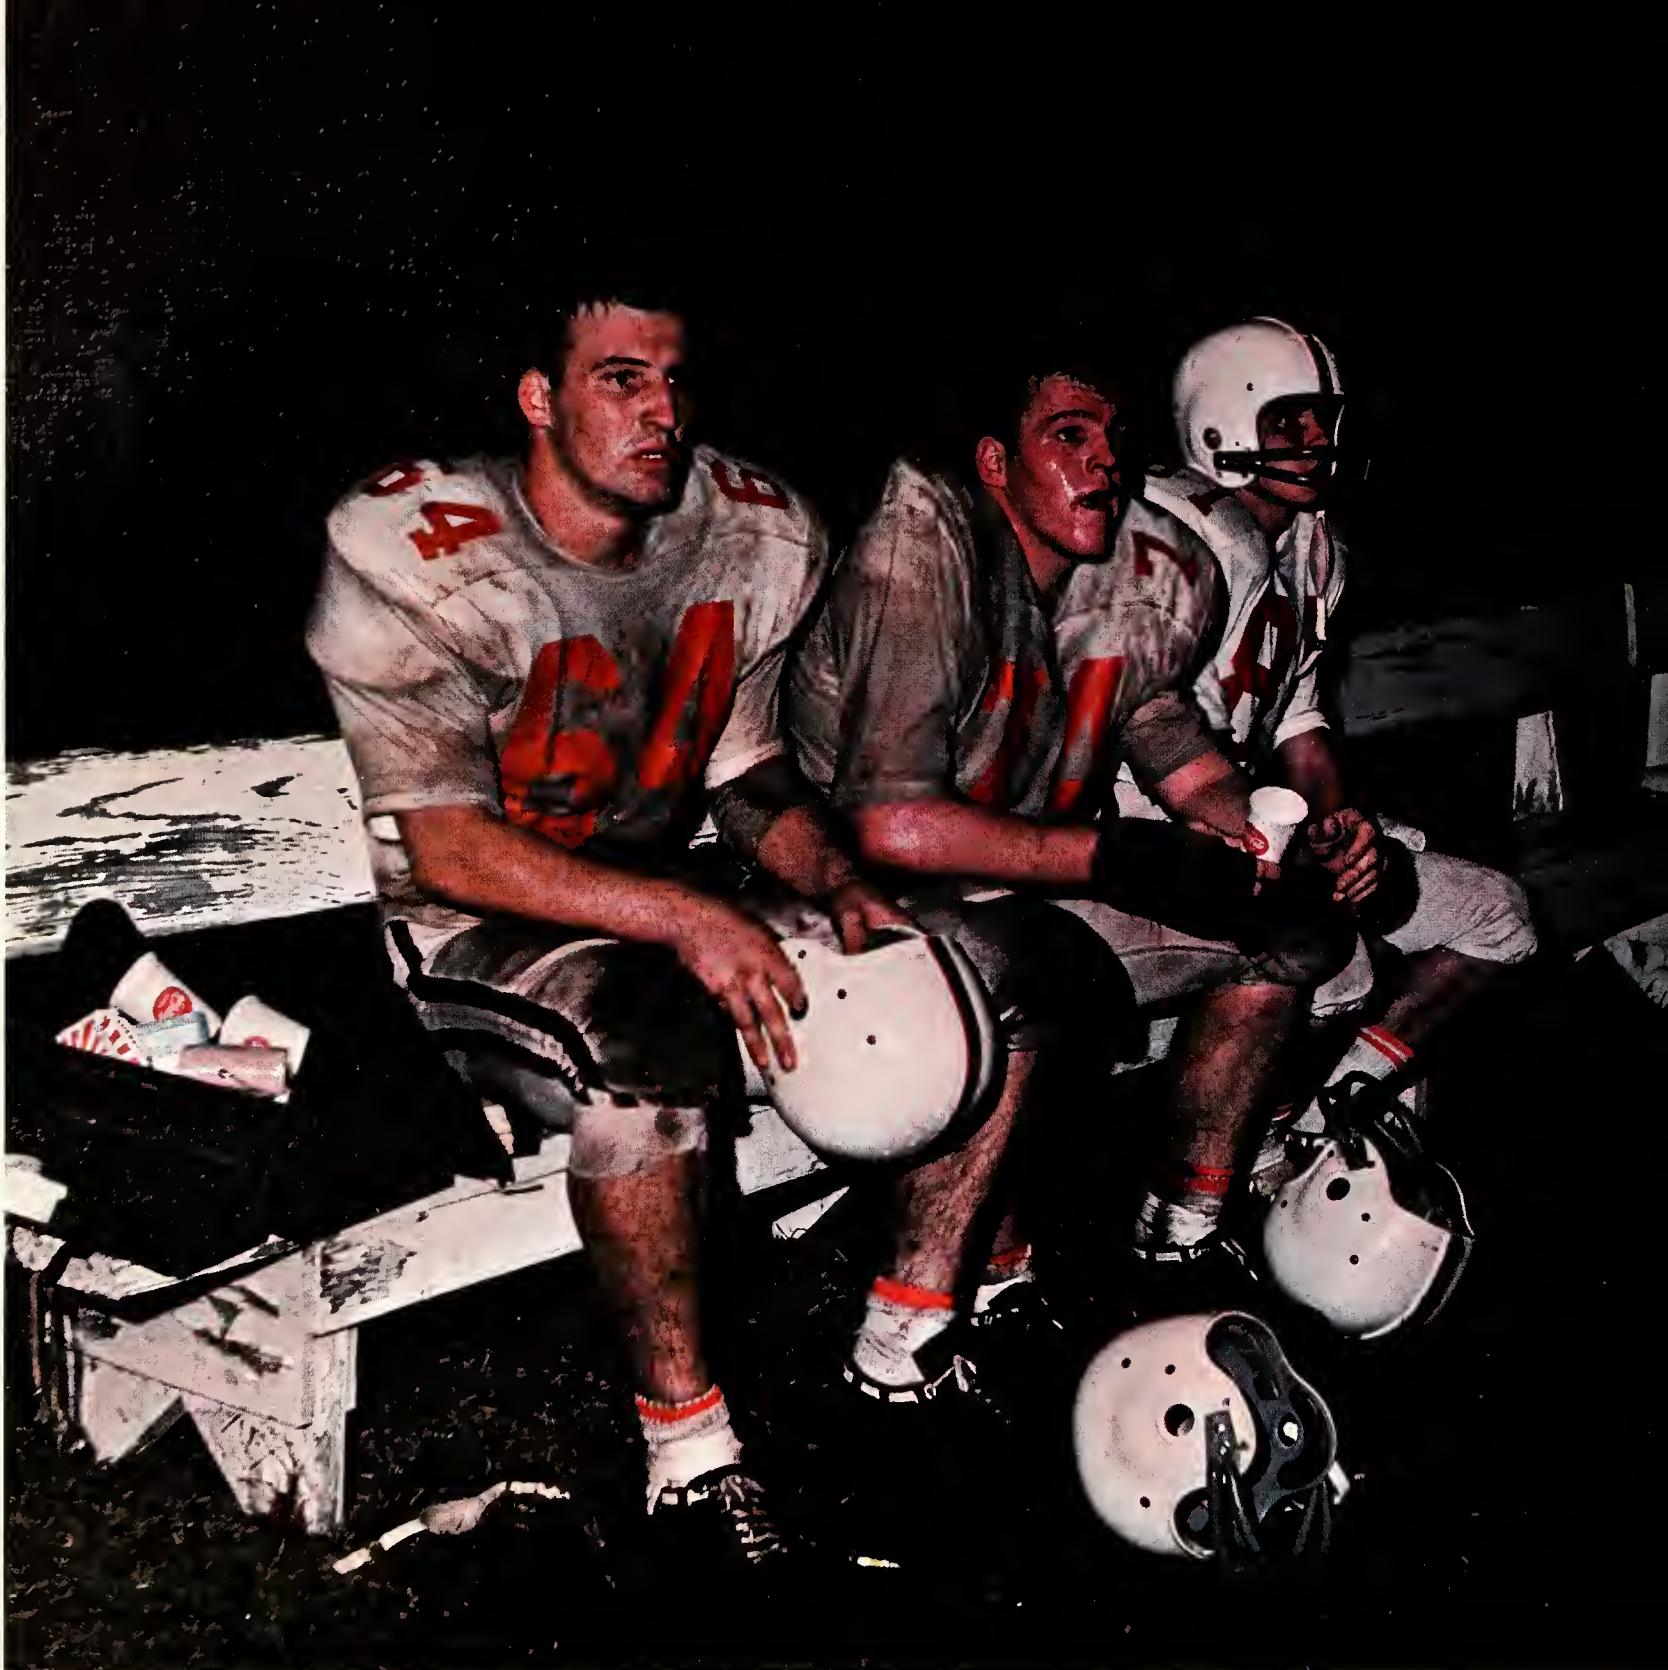

Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.
New-made friendships, like new wine,
Age will mellow and refine.
Friendships that have stood the test—
Time and change—are surely best;
Brow may wrinkle, hair grow gray,
Friendship never knows decay.
For 'mid old friends, tried and true,
Once more we our youth renew.
But old friends, alas! may die,
New friends must their place supply.
Cherish friendship in your breast—
New is good, but old is best;
Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.

—Joseph Parry

From the joy of winning;
To the agony of defeat;
The human drama of athletic competition.

Farewell, farewell! but this I tell to thee, . . .

He prayeth well, who loveth well
both man and bird and beast.

He prayeth best, who loveth best all things both great and small;
for the dear God who loveth us,
he made and loveth all.

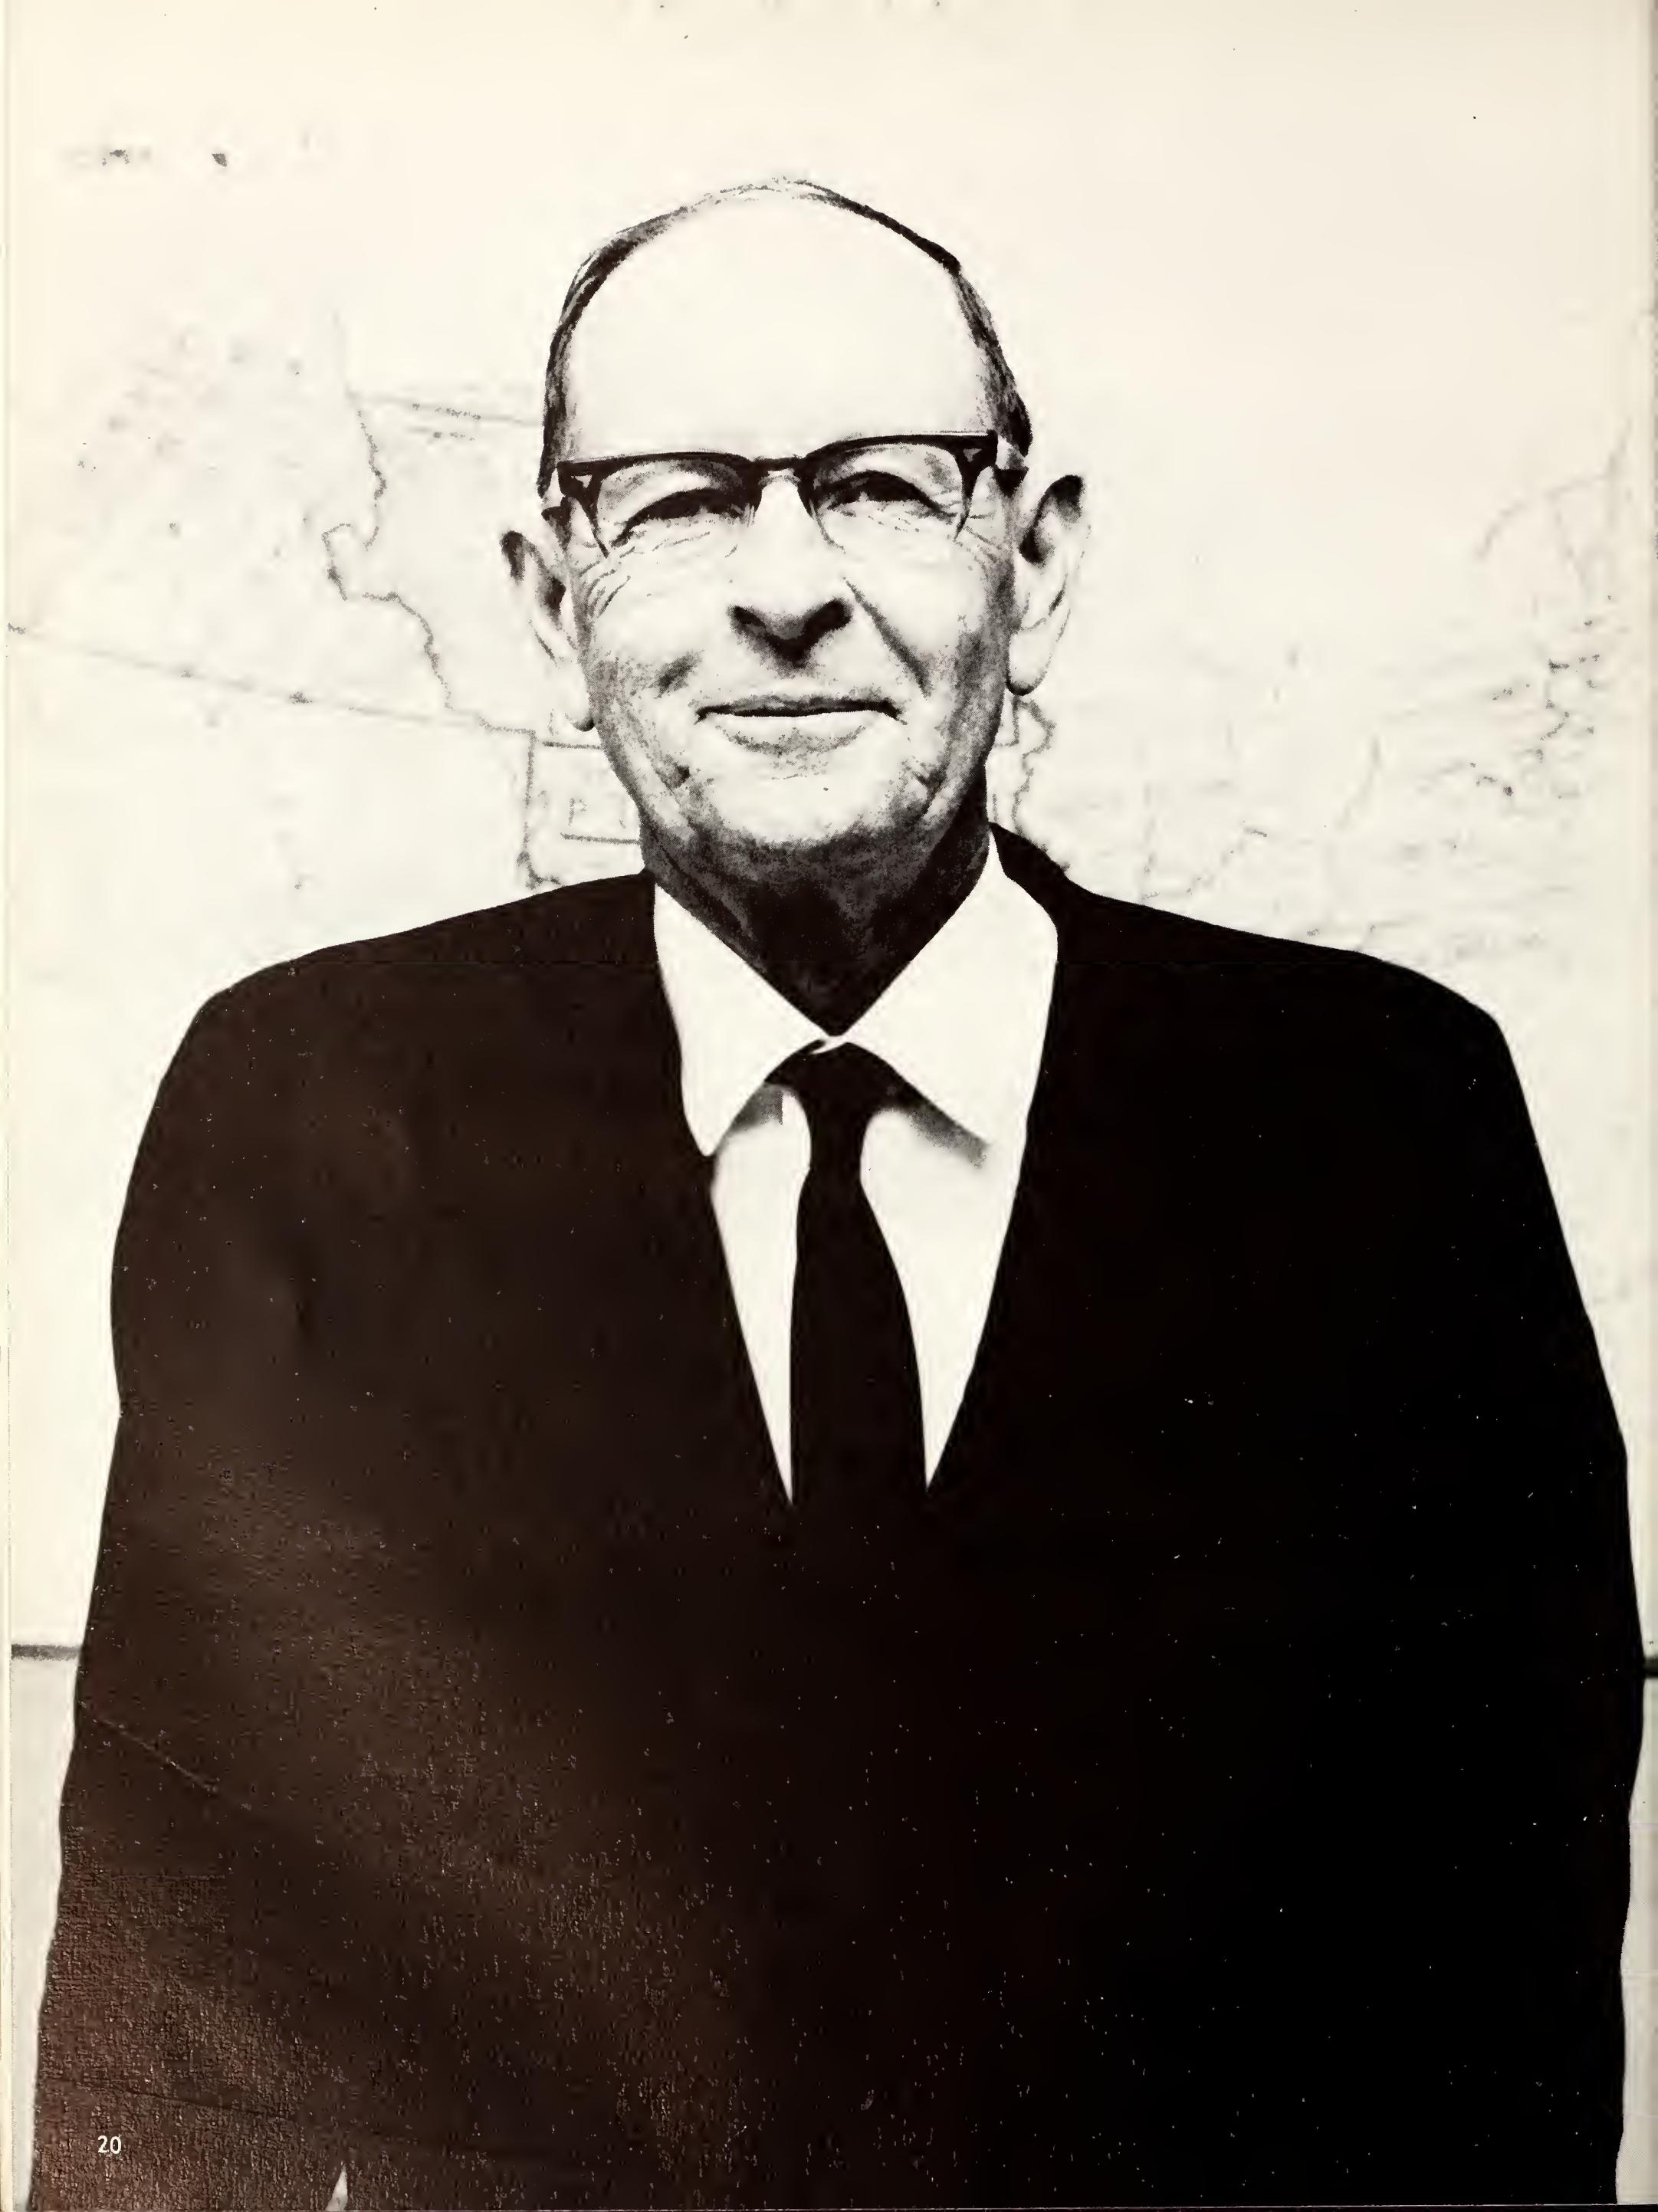

—Coleridge

Dedication

Mr. J. B. Patrick

If ever a man has been loved,
If ever a man has been dedicated,
If ever a man has been understanding,
If ever a man has been unselfish,
He is.

If ever a man has deserved honor,
He does.

All these things are the essence of HJC exemplified in Mr. J. B. Patrick, to whom we proudly dedicate the 1967 EAGLE.

Board of Trustees

Playing an instrumental part in the progress of Hinds Junior College has been our 12-member Board of Trustees. Since our beginning in 1917 it has served as guide for policy-making and aid in solving administrative problems.

These board members represent Hinds, Rankin, Warren, and Claiborne Counties. The Hinds County Superintendent of Education serves as Secretary of the Board. The Superintendent of Education from the remainder of the counties are automatically Board members. Other members are elected by the County Board of Supervisors.

These men have given freely of their time and energy to the needs of our college and share an insight into a more progressive future for Hinds.

FRANK M. GREAVES

President, Board of Trustees

Frank M. Greaves of Bolton has served more than 20 years as President of the Hinds' Junior College Board of Trustees and 34 years as a Board member.

Frank M. Greaves Hall

The new men's dormitory, Greaves Hall, was opened in November. The college's Board of Trustees voted to name the new building after Frank M. Greaves of Bolton, who has been on the board for 34 years, serving as president for more than 20 years.

The hall, which is a 3-story facility costing approximately $415,000, houses 192 men in 24 suites. Architect George Brock of Jackson designed the air-conditioned building, which is arranged in four-room suites. Each room accommodates two men. This project is only the first phase of a three-phase program for the dorm which will see additions in future years.

Mr. F. M. Greaves introduces his namesake.

Dr. Robert Mayo
Heads HJC

Dr. Robert M. Mayo has now completed his second year in the president's position, and in it has shown to our institution a devotion to its students, an endearing love for education, a responsible leadership to an expanding campus, and a progressive outlook for the future.

Seven years ago Dr. Mayo brought to Hinds an impressive record of accomplishments. Others of these have since materialized to lengthen that record. We at Hinds are proud and appreciative to have so benefited from this man, his leadership and love.

Miss Lola AllenHJC Dedica

Years
At Hinds

Miss Lola Allen retired from the staff of Hinds Junior College in 1966, putting a new record in the books of the college. 1966 marked her 43rd year of association with the college, not to mention the distinction of serving under every president.

Her first job on the Hinds Junior College campus was in the capacity as a student, serving under W. N. Taylor. She worked, too, in the business office under Presidents R. E. L. Southerland, G. J. Cain, G. M. McLendon, and Robert M. Mayo.

Miss Allen was an "institutional" part of the Hinds business office, where she worked for 43 years. Known as "the bookkeeper", and "watcher over the college's money", Miss Allen dedicated her life to the College she believes in. Late hours were the expected and not the exception for Miss Allen, if the job needed to be done. For over four decades the money of the college was in good hands, the job was done well, and no sacrifice or work was too much for the dedicated public servant.

Both Miss Allen and Mr. McKenzie were presented plaques, saluting them for their service to the college in the spring of 1966, too late for the 1966 EAGLE, thus this tribute is

Dedicated Servants Retire

W. M. McKenzie

32
Years
of Service

W. M. McKenzie, who joined the faculty of Hinds Junior College in July of 1930, retired in 1966 after giving the better 32 years of his life to the college.

Known as "Prof" to many hundreds of students over the years, he served under four presidents of the college. When he first came to HJC, the faculty consisted of 18 and the total enrollment was 350. Upon his introduction to Hinds, he was also responsible for the maintenance of the main buildings on campus.

In 1944 he left Hinds to become principal of the Raymond Consolidated school for four years before returning to Hinds.

Typical of his dedication can be seen in his words today. "Hinds has been my home, my way of life, and I have had great satisfaction from seeing many students achieve great goals in life." He failed to mention how many students have passed this way, and followed his example; how many have looked upon him with admiration; and how many students have left Hinds with a remembrance of a man who meant more than a little to them while a student at Hinds.

given to them by this year's yearbook staff, who hope in some small way to recognize their years of dedication to Hinds.

An Eagle Salute

Walter Gibbes — A Trojan in Vocational-Technical Education

Meet Walter Gibbes! Known by Hinds Countians and Mississippians for his outstanding leadership in several fields of endeavor, he is known best at Hinds Junior College as the Director of Vocational Technical Education.

But behind that which is readily known, Walter Gibbes has a long history of accomplishments with Hinds Junior College. Just as HJC was a pioneer in Vo-Tech Education, Walter Gibbes was a large part of the pioneering.

Director of the Vo-Tech Department since 1946, Gibbes' background goes back much farther than this. For he began his tenure at Hinds in 1932, when he became a student. After leaving Hinds after the completion of his studies, he was back again as an instructor in 1936, upon his graduation from Mississippi State University. At State he was a member of Beta Kappa, Chi Lambda Rho, and Phi Delta Kappa.

Gibbes has a secret to his success in Hinds' Vocational-Technical program: "Always complete what you have started; success motivates success."

In recent years, as Hinds' role in technical education has increased, the job of Walter Gibbes has quadrupled, but his tireless energy and good humor have continued to be admired by his peers.

Besides his Hinds position, he is an Elder in the Presbyterian Church, President of the Hinds County Farm Bureau and the Lions Club and is Mayor of the town of Learned, Mississippi.

The 1967 EAGLE salutes an outstanding Hindsonian, Walter Gibbes.

Hinds Junior College Busy Training Men For Industry

Dr. Robert Mayo personally conducted a tour of Hinds' Vocational-Technical Center for A&I Board visitors who praised it as "a selling point for attracting industry in Mississippi, simply by showing them these facilities at Hinds."

Vo-Tech Director Walter Gibbes informs Chamber of Commerce and MPI Industries representatives concerning the equipment in the machine shop.

Bringing Industry To State Only Half of 'Real Story'

"Bringing industry to Mississippi is only one-half of the story," Hinds Junior College Vocational-Technical leaders will tell you.

The other half of the success story is "training men to run these industries." And the truth of the statement can be found in the startling fact that today "Hinds Junior College at Raymond can offer jobs to 900 trained men in industries in Mississippi."

Walter Gibbes, director of HJC's Vocational-Technical program, provided industrialists, businessmen, and Chamber of Commerce officials with the startling facts when the Central Mississippi Development District committees met on the Raymond campus recently.

Representing Hinds, Rankin, Warren, and Claiborne counties, more than 100 of the counties' outstanding business and government leaders were given a first hand view of the program offered and the problems faced.

"We have 938 students enrolled in all of the training programs today," Gibbes explained, "but we have the facilities to train 500-600 more with our present buildings and equipment."

The Hinds Vocational-Technical program has a mission and college President, Dr. Robert M. Mayo, analyzed it clearly. "We're interested in training men and women to work in Mississippi."

But the job's a huge one. "I could place 125 graduates of our program this very day in the field of automobile mechanics," Gibbes exclaimed.

"Our number one problem," Hinds officials are quick to explain, "is to keep a student in our program until he completes his course of study." "What do you mean by this?" the visitors queried. "We cannot keep our students," it was explained, "because industries take them out of their classes and give them jobs—some with as little as three months of study."

The demand is so great that industry will hire a man with "just enough experience to get him by, and this will not solve the long-range problem of the shortage of trained labor."

Gibbes, with the college since the Vo-Tech program began in the early 40's, said that "two years ago we had a staff of 16; today we have 58 on the faculty."

Hinds offers courses in refrigeration and air conditioning, office machine repair, automobile mechanics, airplane and engine mechanics and aircraft technology, machine shop and mechanical technology, drafting technology, general electricity and wiring, barbering, auto body and fender repair, electronics technology, electric motors, radio and TV mechanics, diesel mechanics and welding.

"These programs now offered were not set up by the college, nor what is taught in them," Gibbes explains. "Rather they were and are planned by Advisory Committees dealing with each field, composed of men who are now engaged in these job. These people meet and tell us what they need in the way of skilled manpower, and we direct our teaching to these needs," Gibbes added.

A person can enter a vocational program of study, pursue a program best suited to his interest and capabilities, as revealed through a series of tests.

Technical students study under different conditions, enrolling in at least three academic subjects, usually courses he needs in his particular training slanted toward a supervisor field. The technical student is a regular academic student.

The college teaches a full program of night classes, too, and maintains Manpower Development Training programs in Jackson and Vicksburg. Courses in Health Occupations (nursing) are also offered in both cities.

"Hindsonain" writers found themselves in new "quarters" in the Student Union Building, as the 1966 session opened, but by and large, the newspaper was a continuation of the form, policies, and high standards of excellence and quality which preceded it.

Barbara Rutledge headed the new "regime" to be the first female editor in several years, capably assisted by returnee Martha Carr as assistant editor and Jack Coppenbarger, an interested freshman journalism student, as managing editor.

Stories were late, as they always are editorials were hard to write photographer Emmett Alford took good and bad photographs, sometimes late and sometimes on time cartoonist Bill Young drew many cartoons, but few could be printed, but they were always creative Paul Lindsey filled the spot as sports editor late in the first semester, capably compiling the sports scene assistant public relations director Bob Hodges assisted in the advertising department, lending of his experience to the business end of the paper and through it all, Sponsor Ralph Sowell was sometimes patient, and sometimes not too patient . . . sometimes understanding . . . and sometimes not too understanding, but always concerned that the paper be the best possible.

The days were sometimes rough . . . but sometimes pleasurable, as "The Hindsonian" continued to furnish the campus with the state's most color laden, interesting newspaper.

Homecoming weekend brought many visitors, alumni, and old patrons to the Hinds Junior College campus. It was a time of fellowship and reunion with fellow classmates and view together the campus. Through remembering how it was, and somewhat regretting the absence of the old, they take pride in the addition of the new. They remain a definite part of the school, feeling constant satisfaction with its improvements and growth.

To maintain that closeness of thought and class unity, Hinds has established an Alumni Association. The 1967 Sophomores will comprise its first members. They will share the beginning of a much worthwhile and accomplished organization.

"The Curious Savage"

Where is the money? Mrs. Savage, Pam Robertson, has hidden her $10,000,000 and no one knows where it is but her, and she won't reveal the hiding place.

All this took place in the Lendon Players' production, "The Curious Savage", written by Jack Patrick and under the Direction of Miss Marjorie Hess, club sponsor.

Part of the cast of the play consisted of a group of supposedly insane people, the Cloisters, who really proved sane, and the people of the outside world are the ones who are insane.

The audience's imagination was taxed and was given a chance to test its detective nose in this three-act high comedy.

Editor's Message

This year's EAGLE, which is now finished, is a tribute to the academic year which has passed, to the events which have transpired, and to those who have moved on. It is also a tribute to the growth and development of Hinds Junior College.

It is impossible to put out a yearbook without a reliable sponsor, an ever-ready photographer, and a cooperative and capable staff. I had all these assets plus an ideal place to work in the new Union. Much gratitude must be directed to the EAGLE'S advisor, Mr. Ralph Sowell, for his assistance, advice, and skill for keeping us on our toes. I would also like to thank Emmett Alford and Bob Hodges who made my job easy and enjoyable. Above all, I would like to extend a personal "thank you" to my staff for their long hours, great attitudes, and valuable, unending help.

It is my wish that you will be as proud of the 1967 EAGLE as we are. If someday you can look through it and remember the events which made you the happiest and some of those which may bring tears to your eyes, then our task will be accomplished. I appreciate the opportunity I had to edit the 1967 EAGLE, and I hope that it will be one of your most prized possessions.

Dymple Phillips
